16. Abstract Summary data on passenger traffic between the United States and foreign countries are provided for the Calendar Year 1976. Data was selected from Form I-92, "Aircraft/Vessel Report" of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service. Statistics include passenger origin and destination ports, the nationality of the carriers, and the number of U. S. and Non-U. S. citizens on each flight. International operations - both departures and arrivals - by U. S. airport are also included. Passenger flows are broken down by geographical regions, Domestic and foreign carriers. Number of passenger carried between each of 66 U. S. ports and individual world countries are displayed in tables by world areas. Charts depict for each of the U. S. airports total passengers on U. S. and foreign carriers, on all Flags and U. S. and foreign carriers with percentages of U. S. and Non-U. S. citizens. Data is by world region with an All Ports summary. The total U. S. international traffic operating out of all U. S. ports is distributed among ten Foreign World Areas. International travel to and from the Caribbean, Bermuda and Canada is not included in this study. 406 648

FOREWORD

This report is one of a continuing series of periodic reports that portray various types of activities taking place at United States airports. Other topics in this series are:

Profiles of Scheduled Air Carrier
Departure and Arrival Operations

Profiles of Scheduled Air Carrier
Passenger Traffic

Profiles of Scheduled Air Carrier
Operations by Stage Length

Profiles of Scheduled Air Carrier
Airport Operations By Equipment Type

This report deals with international travel at United States airports. The airports studied are those at which international travelers cleared U.S. customs inspection, during 1976. It should be noted that travel to Canada, Bermuda and the Carribean are not included in this report. This was done to focus attention on long-haul international travel.

The numbers of travelers shown in this report are for both arriving and departing international passengers. The study period is the year 1976. During 1976, 21.5 million long-haul international travelers arrived at or departed from United States airports. Fifty-three percent of the total passengers were United States citizens. The study also shows that 46 percent of the total passengers were carried by United States airlines.

INTRODUCTION

This report provides summary data on passenger traffic between the United States and foreign countries for the calendar year 1976. The primary source of the data is Form I-92, Aircraft/Vessel Report, which is submitted by law to the Immigration and Naturalization Service by the captain of all aircraft departing from or arriving in the United States. The form furnishes data on passenger origin and destination ports, the nationality of the carriers, and the number of U.S. and non-U.S. citizens on each flight. The raw I-92 data is collected, edited, and submitted under contract to the Department of Transportation, Transportation Systems Center, Information Division, in Cambridge, Massachusetts, where the report is produced.

The report provides information on passenger traffic for all international operations, both departures and arrivals, by U.S. airport, with flows broken down by geographical regions, domestic and foreign carriers, U.S. and non-U.S. citizens. The total numbers of passengers carried between each of the 66 U.S. ports and individual foreign countries is displayed by world area, as designated by the standard world area codes assigned by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The world area names and the countries included in each are shown in Table A.* One modification to the standard codes was made for this report.

The region of Europe was sub-divided into four distinct areas:

1. Scandinavia
2. Western Europe
3. Eastern Europe
4. Southern Europe

The countries included in each area are also shown in Table A.

The totals and percentages are displayed for each U.S. port by world area as follows. (see Figure 1) If a foreign country represents 1 percent or more of the total traffic traveling between the particular U.S. port and all foreign countries, the data is displayed separately for that foreign country (see A Figure 1). All foreign countries within a world area which individually account for less than 1 percent of the total market between a particular U.S. port and all foreign countries are grouped together into an Others category (B), and the total passenger traffic and percentages described below are given for the aggregate of these. If no country within a world area represents more than 1 percent of the total international market for the U.S. port, only a Regional Total is shown (C).

The following percentages are shown for departures and arrivals at each of the 66 U.S. ports servicing international operations. The data for each port is given in three levels of detail. The first level of data for each port shows aggregate totals for all international travel between the U.S. port and All Regions of the world (D). The percentage of the total U.S. international traffic which is handled at the particular port is shown (E), along with a percentage breakdown of the passengers into U.S. citizens and non-U.S. citizens (F). The second level of detail shows the distribution of international traffic between the U.S. port and each of 10 world areas (G). At this level, the percentage of the U.S. port total traffic which flows to and from the specific world area is given, along with the percentage of U.S. and non-U.S. citizens in the market (H). Finally, each country within a world area which accounts for more than 1 percent of international traffic at the U.S. port, is listed, the percentage of the U.S. port total traffic is given, as well as the percentage breakdown of passengers into U.S. and non-U.S. citizens (I).

For each U.S. port, at the All Regions level and foreign country level of detail, the following totals and percentages are shown for the carrier categories of U.S. Flag, Foreign Flag, and All Flag: (see Figure 1)

- 1a. The number of passengers carried in the market in each carrier flag category.
- b. The number of passengers carried in each category as a percentage of the total number of passengers carried by All Flags in the market.
- 2a. The number of U.S. citizen passengers carried in the market in each carrier flag category.

- b. The number of U.S. citizen passengers carried in each category as a percentage of the total U.S. citizens carried on All Flags in the market.
- 3a. The number of non-U.S. citizen passengers carried in the market in each carrier flag category.
- b. The number of non-U.S. citizen passengers carried in each category as a percentage of the total non-U.S. citizens carried on All Flags in market.

An All Ports summary page is also included at the end of the report. The total U.S. international traffic operating out of all U.S. ports is distributed among ten Foreign World Areas from and to which U.S. international operations are flown with passenger totals and percentages given as described above.

The reader should note the following. International travel to and from the Caribbean, Bermuda, and Canada was excluded from the analysis before any total percentages were calculated. This procedure was used because the large size of these markets tend to distort all percentage calculations. Also, the purpose of the study was to focus attention on long-haul international tends. Therefore, no data appears for World Areas 2 and 9, as listed in Table A. In addition, if a particular U.S. port serviced less than 150 international passengers during the calendar year 1976 after passengers to World Areas 2 and 9 were deleted, the data is not included in the report. The airports of Birmingham, Ft. Lauderdale, and Key West met this criterion, and do not appear.

Graphics

A chart is displayed for each of the U.S. airports, which visually depicts selected percentages included in the tables.

Each chart is comprised of four bars, and presents the following information: (see Figure 2)

BAR #1 (100% BAR)

Breakdown of the total number of passengers carried on both U.S. and Foreign carriers, into the percentage of U.S. and non-U.S. citizens.

BAR #2 (100% BAR)

Breakdown of the total numbers of passengers carried on All Flags into the percentage carried by U.S. Flag carriers and percentage carried by Foreign Flag carriers.

BAR #3

Breakdown of the percentage of passengers flying on U.S. carriers (as shown in BAR #2) into percentage of U.S. and non-U.S. citizens.

BAR #4

Breakdown of the percentage of passengers flying on Foreign carriers (as shown in BAR #2) into percentage of U.S. and non-U.S. citizens.
